

Save Water With a Rain Barrel!

The Hampton Conservation Commission and Aquarion Water Company of New Hampshire are offering SkyJuice rain barrels at the discounted price of $75 (regularly $150).

- Rain barrel features:
- 55 gallon recycled food-grade barrels.
- Fully-screened intake port to keep mosquitoes, insects and debris out.
- An easily-removable lid for cleaning and for storing hoses in the rain barrel in the winter.
- A brass spigot that connects to a regular hose or a drip irrigation system.
- An over-flow tube that can direct water away from the foundation, back into a normal drain, or be used to link multiple rain barrels for additional capacity.

Using rain barrels is good for you, and good for the environment!

- Using rain barrels to collect roof runoff helps reduce flooding on your street, in your yard, and in your basement. Rain barrels release the water slowly into your gardens, allowing plants time to absorb and be nourished by it.
- Using rain barrels helps prevent roof runoff from flowing into environmentally-sensitive streams and ponds. Instead, the water will soak into the ground where it will be naturally-filtered, and will help recharge the groundwater system.
- Using rain barrels to collect water for your plants and lawn means using less tap water for watering.

SAVE

Collect rainwater from your roof: 1/4" of rain on a 1,000 sq. ft. roof will fill 2 rain barrels!

Use

Use the collected rainwater on your garden and house plants. Your plants will benefit from this naturally-soft, unfiltered water.
